

General: Hi. I have a Reliable Toy Company Corvette battleship from approximately 1958. It is red and blue plastic, has a maple leaf on it, has firing torpedoes and drops depth charges. It is near complete, including the box.

Unfortunately, I cannot find hardly anything about it. I know that some Reliable toys have significant Canadian historical value, in fact some are in the National Heritage Museum. This ship would appear to be rare, since I can find nothing about it. I would appreciate any information that anyone could provide about this item. Thanks.

Unique solution ID: #1649

Author: Question

Asked on: 2016-01-04 05:49